WHEELER, '24 GETS SCHOLARSHIP FOR STUDY IN FRANCE

Award Covers All Expense For 8 Months

TO ATTEND HAGUE COMING SUMMER

Will Study Law at Bordeaux in France

Lloyd Raymond Wheeler, '24, has just been awarded a full scholarship to the University of Bordeaux, France. The Scholarship which was awarded by the French Republic thru the American Council on Education, provides for all expenses except travel for a period of eight months. The competition for these scholarships is very keen and Mr. Wheeler was fortunate to secure one of the very few that are awarded American students for study in France.

Although he has made no definite arrangements yet, Mr. Wheeler expects to sail for Bordeaux about the middle of next October. The academic year extends from November until July. Mr. Wheeler, who plans to enter Yale Law School upon his return, will pursue courses in French Municipal government and Civil Law. The following summer he intends to attend the Acad-

Fiesta Features Life and Customs of Sunny Spain

Award Prizes to Rich, Hamlin, And Miss Moulton

The Spanish Festival given by the Circulo Hispano in McCullough Gymnasium, Thursday evening, gave Middlebury students a taste of real Spanish life and customs. The entertainment opened with two violin solos by Michael Prata assisted by Harvey Coates at the piano. "La Reja," a one-act play, followed.

The play was first summarized in English by Richard Rapport. The story of the play centered around the old Spanish custom of young lovers serenading their ladies under their windows. Beacom Rich, as the father, excited many an appreciative burst of laughter. Senora de Lacalle next sang "Clavelitos" a Spanish Gypsy Song to an enthusiastic audience. Senoritas Noble, Linquist, D. Thomson, Macdonald, Collins, and Senors Quackenbush, H. Coates, and Hamlin, sang, in Spanish costumes, a group of Spanish Folk Songs, (a) Tonado de Ronda; (b) Sierra de Lanerlos; (c) Cantar de Pandero.

Following the Folk Songs, La Jota, a Spanish folk dance was presented by Senoritas Quigley, Merritt, Tomasi, Bennet; Senors Quackenbush, Graves, Padula, and Tomagno, also in peasant costume. The Automatic Doll, an unusually attractive dance by Senorita Plumley and Senor Carboy was the last thing before the Floral Games,—the real fiesta. Senor Lacalle explained how this custom of awarding a natural flower to the poet by the queen of his heart had come from France to Spain and had been adapted as a national custom. The distribution of the prizes awarded in the Literary Contest followed. Senorita Florence Noble, as the queen awarded the prizes to F. Beacom Rich, to Miss Mary Moulton, and Mr. Hamlin. The program ended with a Spanish Song, El Relicardario by Senora de Lacalle in Spanish costume.

During the intermission between acts Spanish candies and dolls were sold.

Student Friendship Fund Announces $372.50 Raised

Middlebury's Friendship Fund for the help of destitute university students of Europe totaled $372.50, according to the report of the Committee assigned the task of collecting. This money was raised by the sale of meal tickets at 10 cents each.

Of the total, the Women's College raised $252.05, of which $55 was solicited from members of the faculty, $18 was the gift of Theta Chi Epsilon sorority, which gave up its favor dance at its recent formal for the sake of making this contribution, and a small sum was given by the occupants of the Home Ec. Practice House, who loyally substituted crackers and milk for their usual Sunday night supper, for the sake of the fund.

Of the $120.45 raised by the members of the Men's College, a part was given by the faculty.

REPORT SHOWS 162 MEN IN SPORTS HERE

Freshman Athletes Get Better Grades Than Non-Athletes

Of the 260 men in college, 162 are regularly enrolled in some sport, according to a report just issued by A. M. Brown, professor of physical education, and E. E. Drost, coach of freshman athletics. 148 of these are enrolled in major sports. Practically every man participated in some form of athletics even tho he is not signed up for a sport, the report states.

The list of participations in the various sports reaches 303, but some men are listed in more than one. There are eight different kinds of athletics promoted by the College this year: football, baseball, basketball, track, tennis, cross country, hockey, outing club, and handball. Of these, football, with 84 entrants, leads in enrollment. Track follows with 75 entrants. Baseball is third with 41 entrants, basketball fourth with 31, and minor sports and handball are credited with 72 entrants. More than half of the men in sports are enrolled in two or more.

In addition, there are 46 men who are not signed up for any sport but who receive the benefits of supervised physical exercise.

Freshmen Athletes Rate Well

The report also shows that the scholarship average of the 38 freshmen who were out for football, basketball, and cross country was 76.6 per cent ,while the average of the 33 freshmen who were not enrolled in any sport was 73.8 per cent. The 33 freshmen who were out for freshmen football had an average of 76.2 per cent. These computations were made from academic grades registered in the Registrar's office for the first semester of 1923-24.

Present "The Pill Box"

"The Pill Box," a short play, was presented by the Sophomores at the Y. W. C. A. meeting in Pearson's Social Hall last evening. The playlet, a story of a college girl who goes to India to visit her missionary father and mother, and, in spite of the modern ideas, herself succumbs to the call to be a missionary doctor ,was very well done, and showed much work on the part of the actors ,the stage director and the costume designer.

Elect Y. W. Officers

At a Y. W. C. A. meeting yesterday afternoon, Katherine Mix was elected president, and Isabella Sutherland, vice-president. The remaining officers will be elected soon.

MIDD-B. U. DEBATE IN CHAPEL TONIGHT WILL BE HOT ONE

Boston Sending Best Speakers Against Local Team

O'NEILL TO BE ONE OF JUDGES

Varsity Is Strengthened By Austin, Veteran

A Middlebury debating team composed of Edgar T. Austin, '24, William T. Hade, '26, and Dana S. Hawthorne, '26, will debate Boston University this evening in Mead Chapel on the question of the United States entering the World Court. Middlebury will argue the negative. Neither team will make use of set speeches.

The B. U. team will consist of Harold R. Hall, College of Business Administration, '25, David Greenburgh, Law, '25, captain, and George A. MacLaughlin, Law, '24. Wolcott H. Frazer, C. B. A., '25, will act as alternate. Manager A. Leonard Brown, C. B. A., '25, will accompany the team, as will also James V. Giblin, of James V. Giblin Company, Certified Public Accountants, of Boston, thru whose interest this debate has been arranged.

Greenburgh Best B. U. Debater

Speaking of the B. U. team, Mr. Giblin writes: "We have never held a debate away from home, all colleges preferring to come here. We had won seventeen straight in the last three years before recently losing two contests, with a victory over Syracuse sandwiched in between. The team against Middlebury is slightly above the average we have been using. Greenburgh is the best man at B. U."

Boston University has already debated Dartmouth, Maine, M.A.C., Williams, Syracuse and Rutgers this season, and still has Bowdoin, George Washington University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Brown University remaining on her schedule.

Middlebury's debating squad, augmented by Austin, a veteran debater of considerable platform experience, has

COLUMBIA NOT ON GRIDIRON SCHEDULE

Reason Is That She Wants Lighter Program—Other N. Y. Cards Full

Middlebury will not play Columbia's eleven the coming season, nor will she be able to meet any of the other New York teams, Coach Morey announced yesterday.

Graduate Manager Watt of Columbia, in a letter to Coach Morey, gave as his reason for not scheduling Middlebury the fact that in view of the two past encounters of the teams Middlebury would undoubtedly give the Morningsiders some stiff opposition, and Columbia is anxious to lighten up her schedule this year.

Since Columbia delayed this decision for some time, it was then impossible to schedule games with New York University, Stevens, Rutgers, or Princeton. Stevens and Princeton are both bound by two-year contracts for many of their games, while N. Y. U. could not be arranged to fit in with the rest of the schedule.

Alpha Sigma Phi To Occupy Federation House

The Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity will be established in its new fraternity house, the old Federation Building immediately after vacation. This place which is next to the Register office is well adapted for a fraternity house. It has four large rooms downstairs and eleven rooms on the second floor. The feature of the house is its capacious sleeping porch which extends the entire width of the building. The house has a fine spiral staircase of colonial design.

GRIDIRON MEN DINE AT ADDISON

Morey Gives Inspiring Talk—Prexy Speaks on Football Major

As a fitting climax to a strenuous spring practice season, the football squad banqueted at the Addison House Monday evening.

Introduced by Toastmaster Coach David B. Morey, Prexy Moody gave a brief but interesting talk on "Majoring in Football." Dr. S. S. Eddy who has been associated with Middlebury teams for the past three years as medical attendant, wished the team every success in the coming season. Ex-Captain Connie Moynihan and Captain-elect Marshall Klevenow gave a short snappy talk.

Coach Morey gave a most inspiring word to the men. "In the coming season," he said, "we must have a one hundred per cent fighting spirit! Regardless of odds, Middlebury can always win! Every man on the team fighting his hardest, with a cool head,—always for Middlebury,—will bring victory!"

Among the features of the evening was a short talk by "Breidster" Frederickson, late of West Point and known from coast to coast as an authority on the gridiron sport. "Gus" Mullen sang several solos, while Gollnick and Connelly rendered some excellent piano numbers. Gruggel played several banjo selections. "Main" Rich proved quite an adept juggler. The banquet closed with the singing of football songs, ending with the Alma Mater.

French Club Enjoys Program

A well-planned and executed musical and literary program, arranged by Michael Prata, took place of the regular business meeting at the gathering of the French Club at the Maison Francaise Wednesday evening.

To Hold Convention

Alpha Province of Delta Delta Delta will hold its convention during the Easter recess in Washington, D. C. The convention will last from April 17-20. Among the Washington hostesses will be four Delta congressional women. Mrs. Calvin Coolidge is to receive the delegates one afternoon during the convention.

Miss Aldura Hatch and Miss Mabel Benedict are to be present from Alpha Iota Chapter of Delta Delta Delta at Middlebury.

Province President Here

Mrs. William Bray, Province President of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority visited here from Thursday to Sunday of last week. A delightful tea in her honor was served Saturday afternoon at the sorority rooms.

Miss Laura Monroe, president of Sigma Kappa sorority, arrived in Middlebury Monday afternoon for a several days' stay.

"DAVE" MOREY SIGNS 3-YEAR CONTRACT WITH MIDDLEBURY

Will Coach Varsity Teams Another Term Here

HAS TURNED DOWN EXCELLENT OFFERS

Winter Sports Not Mentioned In Contract

Coach David B. Morey will coach Middlebury football and baseball teams for three years more, according to his statement to The Campus yesterday. Coach Morey has signed a three-year contract which engages him for the three years beginning July 1, 1924, and ending June 30, 1927. No mention is made in the contract of winter sports.

Coach Morey has been at Middlebury as Varsity Coach of football and baseball for four years, and in that time has built up Middlebury teams until they contend favorably with the teams of universities and colleges many times her size. The news of Coach Morey's renewal will be a cause of joy to all who are interested in Middlebury's athletics.

It is understood that Coach Morey continues here in spite of excellent offers from larger institutions. At the time of the change in the coaching staff at Columbia last year, Morey's name, along with that of Coach Percy Wendell of Williams, was featured in New York papers as being a possible successor to "Buck" O'Neill of Columbia. That Coach Morey is firmly attached to Middlebury and intensely interested in her welfare on the athletic field, is amply demonstrated by his decision to remain here.

Pi Phi Girls To Call on Mrs. Coolidge

Will Present First Lady of Land With Large Portrait

Middlebury chapter of Pi Beta Phi will be well represented at the Eastern Conference of the sorority in Washington, April 11 and 12, at which Mrs. Coolidge, known to Pi Beta Phi as Grace Goodhue Coolidge, Vermont Beta, Burlington, Vt., will be presented with a portrait of herself done by Howard Chandler Christy.

The delegates from here will be Ruth Cowles, Margaret Brown, Anna Wilkinson, Norma Foster, Helen Field, Helen Lingham, Dorothy Johnson, Beatrice Stevens, Marjorie Winter, Verna Scott, Dorothy Tillapaugh, Madeline Dunn, Miriam Deedman, and Eleanor Manley; also Mrs. Philip Crane, Miss Theodora Crane, and Mrs. Maud S. Gooding, alumnae.

At the time of presentation of the portrait, which will be placed in the permanent collection of portraits of first ladies of the land, Mrs. Coolidge will receive the delegates in the East Room of the White House.

At a banquet to be held Saturday evening, April 12, at the New Willard Hotel, the 57th anniversary of the founding of Pi Beta Phi at Monmouth College, Monmouth, Ill., will be celebrated. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt will be the guest of honor and make the principal address. Mrs. Catt is a member of the sorority from Iowa.

The Consequences of Truth

Dangerous as it may be to lay down general principles, the fact that in the long run published truth never hurts, we believe may be stated and upheld without qualification.

The classic example of how the rule of expediency may cause the truth to be suppressed is that of wartime propaganda. Another example is the frequency with which the veil of secrecy is cast over the doings of government legislators and executives. In the college world we are continually hearing of attempts to stifle so-called radical utterances. At the present time the Harvard Union is debating as to whether speakers of the type of Debs, Nearing, and Foster should be heard there. The rule of expediency is illustrated in our own college community by the fact that things are carried on behind closed doors which would better justify themselves if brought into the full light of day. At least they would have the merit of being "open covenants, openly arrived at."

We boast of belief in free speech, free press, and full publicity. When a test arises, do we practice these beliefs? We speak in glowing terms of truth, of right, of justice; but when it comes to an application of these abstractions, do we apply them, or do we resort to exepdiency? If truth is worth the sermons that have been preached upon it, the ovations that have been rendered it, surely it does not deserve to be closeted and blanketed from the sight of the people. If the publishing of truth causes suffering it is a sure sign that the sufferer has been meddling with truth. If the publishing of truth smashes a reputation ,either of a person or of an institution, it simply shows what a valueless thing that reputation was.

The war could have been won—that is, brought to a seemingly successful close—without telling lies about the Germans. Likewise, in a country which likes to call itself a democracy secret legislation is out of place ,and in a college which endeavors to inculcate character truth should precede expediency.

Newspaper Misrepresentation

No more notorious case of newspaper sensationalism has lately come within our observation than the report of certain Chicago papers on the pacifist movement at Northwestern University. The students have been libelled as being "dangerous, without regard for law and order, scoffing at the flag, the laws of the land, and her patriotic citizens."

It is true that there is a pacifist movement at that institution, and that the authoriies ,in view of the fact that an endowment drive is still in progress ,have tried to stifle the movement for a time, but have only succeeded in causing additional publicity. But that the students resorted to mob action, egg throwing, and unpatriotic slander is entirely false.

A group of 38 students had engaged a speaker for a pacifist meeting. The Dean, not wishing to sanction such a meeting publicly, asked them not to hold it on the campus. They complied, and met quietly in a nearby restaurant. The speaker, we are told, addressed one of the regular classes of the University the next day. But the press failed to report this.

The same exaggeration and distortion of the facts occurred in the reports of these same papers after an Epworth League meeting a short time ago when Brent Dow Allison spoke upon the same subject. The people of Evanston know these papers, and doubtlessly take them with a grain of salt. But what of the hundreds of people who read the stories and take them at their face value? We rise in protest against this sensationalism. Whatever its intent may be, it produces the same effect as deliberate misrepresentation.

The Saxonian Not Representative

Because of its comparative isolation, Middlebury is not in close touch with the outside world, and with other colleges. Consequently the impression of what we, as a college stand for, is broadcasted largely through the medium of our activities which link us with outside society. The world hears of our athletic prowess, they know of our Glee club; but perhaps Middlebury is being advertised most widely thru her publications. It seems hardly credible that we should want to be known as excelling in news and humor, with no regard for the type of writing which the Saxonian represents.

The Saxonian, however, is not representative of Middlebury. It is representative of possibly a dozen Middlebury students, carrying it on without the support of the student body. A college magazine should be of the student body, by the student body, and for the student body. At present, the Saxonian fulfills the first and last requirements, but certainly not the second. If the students are dissatisfied with the quality of the material, let them contribute and make it a truly Middlebury magazine. The Saxonian needs contributors. It should have support without asking, in its gallant attempt to show to the college world that Middlebury is not lacking in that type of college work which is the pride of most American schools. At present the magazine is merely tolerated, bought under pressure, and left on the table unread.

The Idler wonders how many are going to be left in college when it closes at 11 o'clock Friday morning. He wouldn't be a bit surprised to find that quite a number have betaken themselves "far from the maddening crowd!"

DAUGHTER COMES HOME FROM COLLEGE

In about as many homes as there are co-eds in school, the following is sure to take place. You just wait and see!

As Announced to the Public

Miss Lizzie Coed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheeza Coed, of this city, returned home yesterday from Centerbury College, in the Pink Mts., to spend her Easter holidays with her parents.

As it Really Happened

Friday, April 11th—Arrives home at 11:40 p. m. and after greeting her fond pater and mater, she retires. Thus endeth the first day!

Saturday, April 12th—Gets up at noon and starts to unpack her things. After dinner she goes down town to shop and see a matinee. Gets home at supper time and has to hurry to dress for a date with John, who met her on the street that afternoon. When she comes in the family have retired!

Sunday, April 13th—Mother lets her sleep while the rest of the family go to church. After dinner two young men drop in. Girl friend comes over to ask her to have supper with her. She calls up later to say that they are both going out riding. The evening is pretty well shot when she returns, to say the least!

Monday, April 14th—She goes down town in the morning, has luncheon and goes to another matinee. By this time the young men have learned that she is home and the telephone bell rings continually. Harold takes her to a dance in the evening. Another day all shot!

Tuesday, April 15th—Father wants to go over her expense account with her but is asked to postpone it as there is a wonderful dance at the Palais Royale. She goes; he retires after reading evening paper.

Wednesday, April 16th—Mother is met by friend who says: "I hear that Lizzie is home. What a difference it makes to have our children around the house!" Mother answers that she thought her daughter had returned from college--at least there was a suitcase in Lizzie's room!

Thursday, April 17th—Out to the theater again. Nuff sed!

Friday, April 18th—Good Friday; no dances. She studies on some back work up in her room while the family entertain themselves in the parlor.

Saturday, April 19th—Frantic shopping for Easter finery. Another matinee—last good show she'll see until June sometime! Goes to another dance or has a caller in the evening.

Sunday, April 20th—Easter Sunday. She gets up and goes to church. Must wear the new regalia! Goes walking in the afternoon. Packs up her stuff before supper as she is taking the sleeper back to school. Spends a boring hour or two with the family before train time. Finally says good-bye. It's been SO nice to visit Mamma and Papa altho she couldn't stay longer with them. In the midst of which affectionate leave-taking Reginald calls up to say good-bye. When they shut off she just has time to make her train.

Next Morning.

Miss Lizzie Coed, of this city, returned last night to Centerbury College, in the Pink Mts., after spending her Easter holidays WITH HER PARENTS.

Much has been said lately about the men's debating team and the support it should be given, but why should debating be confined to the Men's College? Last year there was a half-spirited effort to organize a woman's debating club, but it remained at the half-spirited stage. Middlebury girls pride themselves on their athletics, but how splendid it would be to see a team of Middlebury girls taking part in a debate with Vassar, or Smith, or Barnard? At present the Women's College takes no part in any intercollegiate activity. Debating offers an exciting, truly educational solution for this circumstance.

A Onetime Gridiron Captain Speaks

Arthur Howe, captain of Yale's 1911 football team, in the current issue of "The Open Road," shows how what someone has termed the "Frankenstein" of college athletics is consuming the minds of students at the expense of more lasting intellectual pursuits. "It is not that athletics are bad," he says, "but that they are not so absurdly important." Howe speaks from experience and with such force and truth that we quote him at length.

"All over the land, youth is awakening to the fact that there is something real going on in the world of which it

ORATORIO "ELIJAH" MUSICAL SUCCESS

Given By Women's Club Last Night—Chorus Work Best

(By F. M. F.)

Mendelssohn's "Elijah" was presented under the auspices of the Middlebury Women's Club at Mead Chapel last evening. The soloists were: sopranos, Mrs. E. D. Collins, Mrs. Cushing Hill, Miss Madeline Gaylor; contralto, Mrs. H. H. Black; tenors, Dr. H. I. Slocum, Dr. P. E. Mellen, Mr. R. H. Maynard; basso, Mr. B. S. Stewart. The accompanists were Mrs. R. H. Maynard at the piano, and Miss Dorothy Slayton at the organ. The oratorio was under the skilled direction of Prof. L. J. Hathaway, and to him is due no small share of appreciation. Through his tireless efforts, the oratorio was brought to the greatest perfection possible with the material available, and the cause of its obvious success may be traced directly to him.

Elijah, the most popular of oratorios after the Messiah, abounds in numbers which captivate alike refined and simple listeners. Mr. B. S. Stewart as Elijah showed at times a volume and interpretation which were unusually good. What he gained in volume, however, he lost in tone. His interpreation grew steadily better toward the end of Part 1, was sustained through the beginning of Part 2, but fell down again near the end.

The work of the women soloists varied in proportion to the qualtiy of their voices. The group as a whole, while a few good tones and effective reaches were attained, was decidedly weak. It was unable to gain depth or lasting quality, although it made a valiant attempt at sincere interpretation. The high light of the group, although she had no great role, was Miss Madeline Gaylor. Miss Gaylor's voice was splendidly controlled, gaining strong, clear tones and difficult reaches with an ease and an interpretation that show great promise.

Of the tenor group, Mr. Maynard was able to reach few firm tones ,and his voice plainly lacked quality. Dr. Slocum showed a stronger, sweeter tone, but at times lost control of his high notes. Dr. Mellen, although he had not the power of Dr. Slocum's voice, nevertheless proved his voice to be of a sweeter, clearer quality.

COMMUNICATION

Rev. Henry Chapman, '18 Writes From Far North—Sends Paper of "Farthest North" College

Editor "The Middlebury Campus," Middlebury, Vermont.

Dear Sir:—

I am sending you a copy of the "Farthest North Collegian," published by the students of the Alaska Agricultural College and School of Mines. The college was established in September, 1923, and is managed under the auspices of the Federal Government and the Territory of Alaska. Fairbanks is an ideal location for the college, being the center of a rich mining and farming district. Besides the courses in mining and agriculture, the college offers courses in English Literature, French, Sociology, Home Economics, Military Science and Commercial Law.

The college is situated three miles outside of town. There are no dormitories yet, so the students and most of the faculty live in town. An electric car makes five trips daily to and from the college.

Among the students are several grayhaired prospectors who, though well schooled in practical mining, are not above taking advantage of the technical training afforded by the college.

With best personal wishes, I am,
Sincerely yours,
HENRY H. CHAPMAN, '18.

MOODY SPEAKS ON CHRIST'S SILENCES

Says Our Sacrifices Do Not Compare To Those of Saviour

President Moody opened his sermon at Vespers Sunday with an account of the three times in Jesus' life when He could not speak. He spoke especially of the third time which had to do with Easter as found in Chapter 20 of John. This was the time when Jesus just risen from the dead, stood before his disciples and showed them His wounds because He felt they would prove more than words.

Thomas was not there and he would not believe until he had touched the wounds of Christ. We are under a lasting obligation to Thomas because he doubted, for in so doing he brought to us the wounds of Jesus which for those who see them, change the world. His wounds are the sign of His conquest over sin and death and seeing them and the Crown of thorns, we realize that Christ died to save us all.

Even as it is the wounds of Jesus which effect men more than His teaching sometimes, so it is not what we say but what we do that counts in the service of our God. We are willing to make sacrifices that fall in with our convenience but we do nothing for Christ compared to the sacrifices He made for us.

Coffin Fellowships In Science Available

Applications for Charles A. Coffin Foundation fellowships to be awarded this year must be filed with W. W. Trench, Secretary, Charles A. Coffin Foundation, Schenectady, New York, by April 15, from whom application blanks may be obtained.

These fellowships are given in electricity, physics and physical chemistry, and are available to graduates of the universities, colleges, and technical schools of the United States who have shown, by the character of their work, that they could, with advantage, undertake or continue research work in educational institutions either in this country or abroad. The committee in charge desires to award the fellowships to men who, without financial assistance, would be unable to devote themselves to research work. Six were awarded last year. Applications from seniors as well as graduates will be welcomed, but any award to a senior will be conditional upon his being graduated.

Five thousand dollars have been made available by the Foundation for this purpose. The fellowships carry a minimum allowance of five hundred dollars each, which may be increased to meet the special needs of applicants to whom they are granted.

WILL TAKE ON HAMILTON FRIDAY

Each Has One Win—Albany Debate To Decide Which Is Better

Middlebury will renew her debating relations with Hamilton College Friday night when the same team which meets B. U. tonight will debate a Hamilton team at Albany. The contest will be held in the auditorium of the State Teachers' College and Middlebury will uphold the negative side of the World Court question as against B. U.

Relations with Hamilton, which specializes in debating, have been very cordial since the first Middlebury-Hamilton contest held here two years ago, when Middlebury was the winner. Last year the debate was held at Clinton and was won by Hamilton. Debates in which Hamilton is a contestant are always warmly contested and the one to take place in Albany Friday night will be no exception.

Plan To Form Christian Association Here

The temporary committee to draw up plans for the formation of a men's religious organization, Edgar T. Austin, chairman, announces that their goal will be the establishing of a Young Men's Christian Association here. The first meeting will be held shortly after vacation and will be given over to the discussion of some acute campus problem. It is hoped that Professor Charles F. Abbott may be secured to lead this meeting.

Plans for the formation of discussion groups and for the permanent organization will go forward as swiftly as possible.

The next number of The Campus will be issued April 30.

Oratorio "Elijah" Is Musical Success

The best part of the whole production was undoubtedly the chorus work. This was exceptionally fine, showing a balancing of voices and a control that brought the most artistic touch of the evening. The dramatic element in the Rain chorus was developed with splendid depth and interpretation. In the Baal choruses, impatient, boastful, clamoring for miracle, the theme was carried by the various voices with uncanny, powerful meaning and expression.

The accompaniment was very well rendered by piano and organ, and at times, by a combination of the two. The piano accompaniment attracted attention by its clarity and its sincere interpretation.

A Onetime Gridiron Captain Speaks

has been blissfully ignorant. It has been absorbed in its little games, and so absorbed that it has had no time to consider the real issues of life. Hours and hours have been spent in adding one more inch to the height of a jump, or in cutting off a second from the time for a quarter mile. Under the most intensive drill, young men have put in their best energies for something that in its future usefulness to themselves, and for the welfare of mankind, amounts to nothing. That which should have been play, has become the dominant purpose. The horse and the cart have been decidedly out of place.

"The saddest thing about this is that a great many men never get over the effect. Too many grow up to be of very mediocre calibre mentally, and they feed their minds on the sporting pages of the daily papers. They have little or no appreciation of art or music, no interest in the great thinkers of the ages, no idea that their college was endowed and is operated for the production of men qualified to serve the world better in the solution of humanity's problems.

"This is the most harmful demand that college athletics has made upon the individual. It has asked him to sell himself body and soul to interests that are merely the play of life, and thereby has made him miss the great goals of living. Athletics have demanded the body, mind and spirit. In return they have too often given a injured, or over-developed body, a poorly trained mind ,and a warped moral outlook. Sad to relate, these influences have not alone played upon the particpants, but they have carried over into the life of the colleges as a whole and have resulted in an over-emphasized idealization of athletic heroes.

"May the young men in our colleges think twice before plunging themselves into some of the athletic systems in vogue today, and may the instutions involved do much to create an athletic regime that will not be absurd in its demands upon the participant and that will work toward more wholesome development in the lives of the undergraduates."

Midd-B. U. Debate To Be Hot One

been doing intensive work in preparation for this contest and the one with Hamilton which comes Friday night. The direct speeches of the B. U. debate will be 10 minutes in length, and 5 minutes will be given each man for rebuttal. A musical program, including selections by the string quartet, will be added to the evening's entertainment.

To Be Big Debate

This contest bids fair to be the climactic affair of the present forensic season, if not of Middlebury's later debating history. The B. U. men, two of whom are law students, can be counted on to show a brand of platform argument that will be a surprise and a treat to Middlebury people. The local team, moreover, is thoroughly familiar with the question, and is by no means without experience. The contest deserves and will well repay a large audience.

O'Neill To Be One of Judges

Professor James Milton O'Neill, of Sharon, Mass., noted authority on public speaking and debating from the University of Wisconsin, and author of "A Manual of Debate and Oral Discussion" and other textbooks on this subject, is to be one of the judges of the debate tonight. Professor O'Neill is to give a course in argumentation at the Bread Loaf English School this summer.

Charles J. Brown, judge of the East Boston Municipal Court, and Professor Walter E. Prince, debate coach at the Massachusetts Agricultural College, will complete the board of judges.

INTERCOLLEGIATE

Harvard: Business, chemistry, and art are three unappreciated factors in our life, Bishop William Lawrence of Massachusetts said at the Harvard Club Monday night in announcing a campaign to obtain $10,000,000 with which to develop nationally the public service of the University.

shall be held at Commencement and at a date in the Fall to be determined by the Alumni Council. The dues are: for Contributing Members, $3 per year for the first five years after graduation, and $5 per year thereafter; for Sustaining Members, $10 or more per year; for Honorary Members, recipients of Honorary Degrees and those who are elected to honorary membership, $10 or more per year.

Article 8 provides that the "Constitution may be amended at the Commencement meeting by a two-thirds vote of members present and voting provided notice of the proposed change has been mailed to all members of the Associated Alumni thirty days prior to the date of meeting."

INTERCOLLIGIATE

Harvard: The tutorial system has been extended here to department of Modern Languages. Now mathematics and the physical sciences are the only subjects in which tutors are not used. The new extension will effect over 700 men and will necessitate the employment of 12 tutors. The tutorial system was inaugurated here in 1911 and has met with great success.

You won't fumble this cap!

Professional jugglers could handle the old-style shaving cream caps and never once drop one down the drain or under the bath tub. But for most of us, this new Williams Hinge-Cap puts an end to an ancient nuisance.

Williams Shaving Cream is just as much pleasanter to use as is the Hinge-Cap. It softens the beard with uncanny speed. The thicker lather holds the moisture in against the skin where it is needed. This lather lubricates the skin, too, so that painful razor friction is eliminated. And when your shave is done, that famous ingredient in Williams which helps the skin, leaves your face cool, soothed and refreshed. No coloring matter is used in Williams — it is a pure, natural-white shaving cream.
